

Damaged Report

Page 1 of 3

MARK-BROKEN-P1

Operating costs were held flat by renegotiating two supplier contracts.

The northern depot moved to a four day delivery cycle in the second month.

Customer support answered most requests within one working day.

Two new product lines entered pilot with a small group of accounts.

Inventory turnover improved after the warehouse layout was changed.

Staff training hours rose, mostly in safety and equipment handling.

The finance team closed each month three days earlier than last year.

Energy use per unit shipped fell after the lighting was replaced.

Risks for the next period are set out in the final section.

Revenue grew steadily across all three regions during the period.

Damaged Report

Page 2 of 3

MARK-BROKEN-P2

The northern depot moved to a four day delivery cycle in the second month.

Customer support answered most requests within one working day.

Two new product lines entered pilot with a small group of accounts.

Inventory turnover improved after the warehouse layout was changed.

Staff training hours rose, mostly in safety and equipment handling.

The finance team closed each month three days earlier than last year.

Energy use per unit shipped fell after the lighting was replaced.

Risks for the next period are set out in the final section.

Revenue grew steadily across all three regions during the period.

Operating costs were held flat by renegotiating two supplier contracts.

Damaged Report

Page 3 of 3

MARK-BROKEN-P3

Customer support answered most requests within one working day.

Two new product lines entered pilot with a small group of accounts.

Inventory turnover improved after the warehouse layout was changed.

Staff training hours rose, mostly in safety and equipment handling.

The finance team closed each month three days earlier than last year.

Energy use per unit shipped fell after the lighting was replaced.

Risks for the next period are set out in the final section.

Revenue grew steadily across all three regions during the period.

Operating costs were held flat by renegotiating two supplier contracts.

The northern depot moved to a four day delivery cycle in the second month.